Currently working on some overlays for video editing. Most package come with build in overlays to use as titles or transitions. Useally they only work in that one package.
So I am creating a set of overlays that can be used in ANY video-editing package.

Here is a pre-preview sample (really early stages ;))

It's a blue transparant title or subtitle box, animation is completely rendered for realism, so when it comes in screen you can actually see it has a different angle from the camera.
Then there is the dirty stone title box and finally a smokey transition.
Fun stuff is that you can use all the video-editing tools to change their colors, position and what not..
